There are probably more nursery rhymes in China than can be found in England and America. We have in our possession more than six hundred, collected, for the most part, in two out of the eighteen provinces, and we have no reason to believe that we have succeeded in getting any large proportion of what those two provinces contain.

In most of the rhymes there are features common to those of our own "Mother Goose," among which are those referring (1) to insects, (2) animals, (3) birds, (4) persons, (5) children, (6) food, (7) parts of the body, (8) actions, such as patting, grabbing, tickling, etc., (9) professions, trades and business.

We have tried to reproduce the meaning of the original as nearly as possible; this has not always been an easy task. Let it be understood that these rhymes make no pretensions to literary merit, nor has the translator made any attempt at regularity in the meter, because neither the original nor our own "Mother Goose" is regular. Our desire has been to make a translation which is fairly true to the original, and which will please English-speaking children. The child, not the critic, has always been kept in view.

Attention is called to the affection manifested in such rhymes as "Sweeter than Sugar," "Sweet Pill," "Little Fat Boy," and "Baby is Sleeping." There is no language in the world, we venture to believe, which contains children's songs expressive of more keen and tender affection than those we have mentioned. This fact, more than any other, has stimulated us in the preparation of these rhymes. They have been prepared with the hope that they will present a new phase of Chinese home life, and lead the children of the West to have some measure of sympathy and affection for the children of the East.

The compilation was much facilitated by the work done by Baron Vitali, of the Italian Legation in Peking; Rev. Arthur H. Smith, author of "Chinese Characteristics;" Miss Mabel Whiting, of Peking; Miss Mitchell, of Chinkiang; Mrs. McClure, of Honan; Miss Chalfant, of Shantung; Mr. Chao Tsz-chi, Chinese Consul at New York; Mr. Yamamoto, of Peking, and Rev. Chauncy Goodrich, of T'ung Chou, while the entire work is due to the fact that our attention was called by Mrs. C. H. Fenn, of Peking, to her old nurse repeating these rhymes to her little boy.

The illustrations have all been prepared by the translator specially for this work.

WHAT THE OLD COW SAID

SAD old cow to herself once said, While the north wind whistled
 through her shed:
 "To head a drum they will take my skin,
 And they'll file my bones for a big hair-

 The scraps of bone they will make into dice,
 And sell them off at a very low price;

 And my flesh they'll put in a big soup pot."

 You may eat meat three times a day,
 And I'll eat the parts that you throw away."

MIXED

UST outside my door, I heard someone say,
 A man bit a dog in a dangerous way;
 Such a message I n'er for a moment could stand,
 So I took up the door and I opened my hand,
 I snatched up the dog I should say double-quick
 And threw him with all of my force at a brick;
 The brick—I'm afraid you will not understand—
 I found in a moment had bitten my hand;
 I mounted a chair, on a horse I was borne,
 I blew on a drum, and I beat on a horn.

THE BALD OLD WOMAN

 ON the top of the mount,
 By the road, on a stone—
 Or a big pile of bricks—
 Sat a bald-headed crone.

On her head were three hairs,
 Which you'll reckon were thin,
 In which she was trying To wear a jade pin.

She put it in once,
 But once it fell out;
 She put it in twice,
 But twice it fell out.

But the old woman said,
 "I know what I'm about,
 I'll not put it in
 And it cannot fall out."

The blind who eat them receive their

The bald who eat them grow a cue,
And the priest can read his bible through,

They help the Taoist a seat to take.

Their virtues are many—buy my

The man who eats fears not his wife,
And the woman works better all her life.

BALD HEAD LEE

HERE once was a bald-head,
his name it was Lee,
No one ever burned
so much incense as he;
Now, people burn incense
to get them an heir,
But baldy burned incense to get him some hair.

When he found in three days
all his hair had returned,
He the god gave a coat
and more incense he burned;

When he found in three days
all his hair had dropped out,
He upset the god
and he kicked him about.

Then the god became angry
and took up a sword,
And made into dippers that bald-headed gourd.

And for not buying powder
her husband did scold;
He bought her some powder,
which she would not use,
And for not buying hemp

He bought her some hemp,
but she only got worse,
And scolded because
he had not bought a horse;
He bought her a horse
but she never would feed it,

And scolded because 'twas a clothes-press she needed;
 He bought her a clothes-press,
 but nothing she packed,
 And scolded because
 'twas a rope that she lacked;
 He bought her a rope
 and she hung herself dead,
 And frightened her husband

SMALL boy came from the

With a bamboo basket upon his arm,
With mutton bones was the basket filled,
From a sheep which his folks that day had killed.

A monkey came from a pile of stones
To steal that boy's fresh mutton bones,

But a big, spotted dog followed close at his heels,
To bite a bad monkey whenever he steals.

A half of a brick lay there on the road,
It upset the boy and he spilt out his load,
The dog bit the monkey, the monkey ran away,
The boy broke his basket and cried
all day.

What do you see in the earth, pray tell?
I see in the earth a deep, deep well;
What do you see in the well, my dear?

I see a frog, and his

What is he saying there on the rock?
Get up, get up; ke rh

SISTER-IN-LAW

OH the pumpkin red, oh the gourd decayed,
I am my father's mischievous maid;
I am my brother's dear little sister;
I am my sister-in-law's fly-blister.
Father, when I marry, what will you give?
A box and a ward-robe you shall receive.

Mother, when I marry, what will you bring?

A little work-basket full of everything.

Brother, when I marry, what will come from you?

A fancy cloth towel; think that will do?

My happiness, sister, you will not mar?
I'll give a broken bottle and a little smashed jar,

And send you, you nuisance, away very far.

BUY-ING

OH,

here we all go to buy us a lock,

What kind of a lock shall it be?
We'll buy one of silver or buy one of gold,
But what shall we use as a key?
We'll use a broom-handle; if that will not do,
With a poker we'll try it alone;

But if neither the broom nor the poker will do,
We will open it then with a stone.

 And hurried to the town,
 And children met him with a horse,

HOME ON THE MOUNTAIN

IN a very high mountain

A family dwell,
Of ten of their rooms, Nine of them fell.

高高山上有 一家 十間房子 九間塌 老頭子 出來拄拐棍兒 老婆子 出來就地兒擦 看家的狗兒 三條腿 避鼠的狸貓 短個尾巴

The old man comes out
With a great deal of trouble;
His wife hobbles after,
Her body bent double.

Their three-legged dog
Is as thin as a rail,
And their rat-fearing cat
Is minus a tail.

FAMILY NEEDS

YOU'LL find whenc'er the new year come,
 The kitchen god will want a plum;
 The girls will want some flowers new,

The boys will want
 some crackers, too;
 A new felt cap will please papa,
 And sugar-cake will please mama.

新年來到糖瓜祭灶 姑娘要花小子要炮 老頭子要買新毡帽 老婆子要喫大花糕

MY BOAT

MY boat is turned up at both ends,
All storms it encounters it weathers
On its body you'll find not a board,
But covered all over with feathers.

We daily re-load it with rice,

'Tis admired by all whom we meet,
You will find not a crack in my boat,
But you'll find underneath it two feet:

A duck.

一隻船兩頭高 渾身沒板淨生毛 天天要裝紅糧米 船底無縫可漏脚

OLD GRANNY
CHANG

KNOCKING, knocking, who's at the door?

Old Granny Chang, and nothing more.

Why don't you enter, granny, dear?
The dog will bite me, child, I fear.

What are you shaking there at your feet?

A string of garlic, good to eat.

What are you carrying under your arm?

An old fur cloak to keep me warm.

Why don't you put the cloak on,
granny?
Fear the insects will bite me, sonny.
Why don't your husband kill such a pest?
My husband's gone to the land of rest.

Where is the old man's burial spot?
There, in the fire-place, under the pot.
Why don't you cry for your husband true?

Old pot! old pan!! old man!!!
boo-hoo!!!!

HIS little cow eats grass,
This little cow eats hay,
This little cow drinks water,
This little cow runs away,

我們打他

這個小牛兒竟卧着

這個小牛兒打滾兒

這個小牛兒喝水兒

這個小牛兒吃料

這個小牛兒吃草

This little cow does nothing,
But just lie down all day;
We'll whip her.
